

Allianz Life Insurance Company of North America

Foreign National Program Consumer Disclosure Statement

Allianz Life Insurance Company of North America (Allianz) thanks you for your interest in our life insurance products which are available through the Foreign National Program.

Allianz Foreign National Program allows individuals of any citizenship, other than the United States (U.S.), residing in or outside of the U.S., and U.S. Citizens permanently or temporarily residing outside of the U.S., to purchase U.S.-based life insurance for their U.S.-based life insurance needs if they meet our specified underwriting criteria.

If you do not read or understand English and this Consumer Disclosure Statement is not available in a language you understand, you must have someone other than your Financial Professional interpret it for you.

You will be required to sign this agreement certifying the following recommendations and requirements were met as part of the solicitation, application, and delivery process, and as a condition to your ownership of any Allianz policy you purchase, subject to Foreign National Program Guidelines.

1. All documentation and communication will be in English

The policy, application, marketing materials, illustrations, disclosure documents, and any other policy communications including the sales process will be in English only. You may want to hire an interpreter or have someone interpret for you if you do not speak English or do not understand English well enough to understand the communications and documents you will receive. Costs for translation services are paid by you. The Financial Professional who is selling you this policy is not authorized to interpret or translate it for you. If an interpreter is hired they will be required to sign an Affidavit of Foreign Language Translation or Interpretation.

2. All solicitation must occur in the U.S.

Your Financial Professional must adhere to Allianz Solicitation Guidelines. The general definition of solicitation is any activity that may, or does, lead to the sale of a life insurance policy. All solicitation of Allianz life insurance products must occur in the U.S., in a state in which the Financial Professional is appropriately licensed and appointed and in which you have established a proper U.S. nexus.

3. A substantial U.S. nexus is required

To qualify for the Allianz Foreign National Program, you must have a substantial nexus (connection) to the U.S. A substantial nexus requires that you: have a significant, legitimate interest in the U.S., have been physically present in the U.S. for 15 days in the preceding 12 months, currently are in the U.S. for purposes other than solely to purchase life insurance, and have an existing U.S. financial presence, including a U.S. bank account and valid physical U.S. address of record. You must also establish a financial need for the amount of U.S.-based life insurance that is being requested.

4. U.S. funds and banking are required

All premium payments must be made through a U.S. bank account. Only wired funds from U.S. banks will be accepted. No non-U.S. currency, foreign wires, or wires from a correspondent or pass-through bank will be accepted.

5. The application, policy issuance, and delivery must occur in the U.S.

The application must be signed within the U.S. in the state in which you have established a substantial U.S. nexus and in which the policy was solicited and delivered. The policy and all other policy documentation must be delivered to a valid U.S. address. P.O. boxes and addresses for the Financial Professional responsible for selling you the policy are not allowed. Upon delivery of the policy, you must sign a Policy Delivery Receipt verifying the policy was solicited and delivered within the U.S.

6. All subsequent communication must occur in the U.S.

After purchasing and receiving delivery of your policy, all subsequent communications and correspondence from Allianz must be delivered to a valid U.S. address. P.O. boxes and addresses for the Financial Professional responsible for selling you the policy are not allowed. Subsequent communications and correspondence occur in the course of administering a policy and may include, but are not limited to: premium notices, privacy notices, lapse and grace period notices, annual statements, policy change confirmations, and unclaimed property and escheatment notifications. Allianz reserves the right to refuse to send any subsequent communications and correspondence directly to a non-U.S. address of the policy owner or insured and the policy owner must agree not to request to change the U.S. address to an address outside of the U.S.

7. You may appoint an Attorney-in-Fact

You may designate an Attorney-in-Fact to sign the Policy Delivery Receipt, any delivery requirements, and receive post-issue communications regarding the policy. This is done through the use of a legal document called a Power of Attorney (POA). A sample form will be provided upon request and it must be drafted by your personal attorney who is licensed to practise in the jurisdiction where the policy is solicited and delivered. If you appoint an Attorney-in-Fact, you will not directly receive any policy communications and correspondence and you must agree, in writing through the POA, that this meets any legal or policy requirements to mail such correspondence and communications to you.

8. Foreign policy ownership is restricted

Your policy may be owned by you, a U.S. individual, or U.S. trust or entity. Non-U.S. trusts or entities will not be accepted as owners nor will any non-U.S. ownership which has not been reviewed and approved by Allianz for a substantial U.S. nexus. Policy ownership may be subject to specific requirements of the insured or policy owner's country of legal citizenship, residence, or jurisdictional region. In such cases where the policy is owned by someone or something other than the insured, policy ownership is subject to insurable interest laws in the U.S. state of policy solicitation, application, and delivery. Allianz reserves the right to refuse any subsequent change of ownership that does not conform to its current or then existing Foreign National Program standards.

9. You are responsible for compliance with U.S. and foreign laws

You must verify that the laws of your country of legal citizenship, residence, or jurisdictional region permit the purchase of a U.S. life insurance policy. Ascertaining any tax, legal, other implications, or treatment that the policy may receive in the U.S. or your country of legal citizenship, residence, or jurisdictional region is your sole responsibility.

10. Any disputes must be settled in the U.S. under U.S. law

Any legal or non-legal dispute, claim, demand, controversy, action, or proceeding, however characterized, which relates to your policy and your agreement to purchase it subject to Allianz Foreign National Program Requirements shall be filed and heard in the U.S. state or federal courts, or administrative agencies in which the policy was solicited, applied for, and delivered. Such U.S. courts or administrative agencies shall have exclusive and final jurisdiction over the parties to the action or proceeding.

11. You should consult with your legal, tax, and financial professionals

We advise you to consult with your own tax, legal, and other financial planning professionals with regard to the purchase of any Allianz life insurance products. Neither Allianz, nor any of its employees, representatives, agents, or affiliates may provide you with any tax or legal advice, or guarantee or promise any particular legal or tax consequences arising out of, or relating to, the purchase of any policy.
