ALLIANZ LIFE OF NEW YORK

Allianz Life of New York is a stock life insurance company organized under the laws of the state of New York. Before January 1, 2003, Allianz Life of New York was known as Preferred Life Insurance Company of New York. We are a subsidiary of Allianz Life Insurance Company of North America (Allianz Life), which is also a stock life insurance company. Allianz Life is a subsidiary of Allianz of America, Inc. (AZOA), a financial holding company. AZOA is a subsidiary of Allianz SE, a provider of integrated financial services. Allianz SE is headquartered in Munich, Germany, and has sales outlets throughout the world. We offer fixed and variable annuities and individual life insurance.

Allianz Life of New York does not have a separate custodian for the assets owned through the Separate Account. Most mutual fund shares are not in certificated form, and as such, Allianz Life of New York in effect acts as self custodian for the non-certificated shares we own through the Separate Account.

EXPERTS

The financial statements of Allianz Life of NY Variable Account C as of and for the year or period ended December 31, 2012 (including the statements of changes in net assets for each of the years or periods in the two year period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the periods presented) and the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Allianz Life Insurance Company of New York as of December 31, 2012 and 2011 and for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2012, are included in Part C of the Registration Statement in reliance upon the report of KPMG LLP, independent registered public accounting firm, also included in Part C, and upon the authority of said firm as experts in accounting and auditing. The principal business address of KPMG LLP is 4200 Wells Fargo Center, 90 South Seventh Street, Minneapolis, MN.

LEGAL OPINIONS

Stewart D. Gregg, Senior Securities Counsel of Allianz Life of New York, has provided legal advice on certain matters in connection with the issuance of the Contracts.

DISTRIBUTOR

Allianz Life Financial Services, LLC (Allianz Life Financial), a wholly owned subsidiary of Allianz Life Insurance Company of North America, acts as the distributor of the Contracts. We do not pay commissions for sales of the Contracts.

Allianz Life Financial sells annuity contracts issued by Allianz Life of New York primarily through “wholesaling,” in which Allianz Life Financial sells contracts through a large group of mostly non-affiliated broker/dealer firms. Currently, Allianz Life Financial has agreements with approximately 901 retail broker/dealers to sell its contracts.

The Contracts offered by this Registration Statement are designed specifically to be marketed by investment advisory firms and their advisory representatives. These firms may also be registered as broker-dealers.

As described in the prospectus, Allianz Life Financial may pay marketing support payments to certain third-party firms for marketing our contracts. Currently, Allianz Life Financial makes marketing support payments to approximately 44 broker-dealer firms. These payments vary in amount. In 2012, the five firms receiving the largest payments, ranging from $818,525 to $5,094,835, are listed below. Marketing support payments may also be made to managers of Investment Options or their affiliates for providing Investment Option information and marketing support. In addition, Allianz Life Financial may make marketing support payments to investment advisory firms marketing the Contract.

FEDERAL TAX STATUS

NOTE: The following description is based upon our understanding of current federal income tax law applicable to annuities in general. We cannot predict the probability that any changes in such laws will be made. Purchasers are cautioned to seek competent tax advice regarding the possibility of such changes. We do not guarantee the tax status of the Contracts. Purchasers bear the complete risk that the Contracts may not be treated as “annuity contracts” under federal income tax laws. It should be further understood that the following discussion is not exhaustive and that special rules not described herein may be applicable in certain situations. Moreover, no attempt has been made to consider any applicable state or other tax laws.

ANNUITY CONTRACTS IN GENERAL

Annuity contracts are a means of setting aside money for future needs – usually retirement. Congress recognized the importance of saving for retirement and provided special rules in the Internal Revenue Code (Code) for annuities.

These rules generally provide that you will not be taxed on any earnings on the money held in your annuity until you take the money out. This is called tax deferral. There are different rules regarding how you will be taxed, depending upon how you take the money out and whether the annuity is Qualified or Non-Qualified (see the following discussion in this section).

If you do not purchase the Contract under a tax qualified retirement plan, the Contract is referred to as a Non-Qualified Contract.

TAXATION OF ANNUITIES IN GENERAL

Section 72 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code) governs taxation of annuities in general. An Owner is generally not taxed on increases in the value of a Contract until distribution occurs, either in the form of a lump sum payment or as Annuity Payments. For a lump sum payment received as a full withdrawal (total redemption) or death benefit, the recipient is taxed on the portion of the payment that exceeds the cost basis of the Contract (your investment). For Non-Qualified Contracts, this cost basis is generally the Purchase Payments, while for Qualified Contracts there may be no cost basis. The taxable portion of the lump sum payment is taxed at ordinary income tax rates. A partial withdrawal results in tax on any gain in the Contract (for example, the difference, if any, between the Contract Value immediately before the withdrawal, unreduced by any charges, and the Contract’s cash basis). Lump sum withdrawals, whether partial or full, may also be subject to a federal penalty tax equal to 10% of the taxable amount.

For Annuity Payments, the portion of each payment included in income equals the excess of the payment over the exclusion amount. We determine the exclusion amount for Annuity Payments by multiplying the Annuity Payment by the ratio that the investment in the Contract (adjusted for any period certain or refund guarantee) bears to the expected return under the Contract. Annuity Payments received after the investment in the Contract has been recovered (for example, when the total of the excludable amounts equal the investment in the Contract) are fully taxable. The taxable portion of an Annuity Payment is taxed at ordinary income tax rates. For certain types of Qualified Contracts there may be no cost basis in the Contract within the meaning of Section 72 of the Code. Owners, Annuitants and Beneficiaries under the Contracts should seek competent financial advice about the tax consequences of any distributions.

We are taxed as a life insurance company under the Code. For federal income tax purposes, the Separate Account is not a separate entity from us, and its operations form a part of Allianz Life of New York.

QUALIFIED CONTRACTS

If you purchase the Contract under a pension or retirement plan that is qualified under the Code, the Contract is referred to as a Qualified Contract. Qualified Contracts are subject to special rules. Adverse tax consequences may result if contributions, distributions, and transactions in connection with the Qualified Contract do not comply with the law.

A Qualified Contract does not provide any necessary or additional tax deferral if it is used to fund a qualified plan that is tax deferred. However, the Contract has features and benefits other than tax deferral that may make it an appropriate investment for a qualified plan. You should consult your tax adviser regarding these features and benefits before purchasing a Qualified Contract.

Types of Qualified Contracts

We may issue the following types of Qualified Contracts.

- Traditional Individual Retirement Annuity. Section 408 of the Code permits eligible individuals to maintain Individual Retirement Annuities (IRAs). IRA contributions are limited each year to the lesser of a dollar amount specified in the Code or 100% of the amount of earned income included in the Owner's income. You cannot make contributions once the Owner reaches age 70½. Contributions may be tax deductible based on the Owner's income. The limit on the amount contributed to an IRA does not apply to distributions from certain other types of qualified plans that are "rolled over" on a tax-deferred basis into an IRA. Purchasers of a Contract for use with IRAs have the right to revoke their purchase within seven days of the earlier of the establishment of the IRA or their purchase.

- Roth IRA. Section 408A of the Code permits certain eligible individuals to contribute to a Roth IRA. Contributions to a Roth IRA are limited each year to the lesser of a dollar amount specified in the Code or 100% of the amount of earned income included in the Owner's income. Contributions are also limited or prohibited if the Owner's income is above certain limits. Contributions must be made in cash or as a rollover or transfer from another Roth IRA.

Conversions to a Roth IRA from a Traditional IRA or other eligible qualified retirement plan are permitted regardless of an individual's income. A conversion to a Roth IRA results in a taxable event, but not a 10% federal penalty tax for early withdrawal if certain qualifications are met (please consult your tax adviser for more details).

Distributions from a Roth IRA generally are not subject to income tax if the Roth IRA has been held for five years (starting with the year in which the first contribution is made to any Roth IRA) and the Owner satisfies a triggering event such as attaining age 59½, death, disability or a first time homebuyer (subject to a $10,000 lifetime limit).

Distribution before satisfying the five year period or triggering event requirement may subject the distribution to ordinary income tax and the 10% federal penalty tax for early withdrawal. Please be aware that each Roth IRA conversion has its own five year holding period requirement.

- Inherited IRA. The Code permits beneficiaries of investments that were issued under certain tax-qualified pension or retirement plans to directly transfer the death benefit from that investment into a variable annuity contract (Inherited IRA Contract). Inherited IRA Contracts must satisfy the required minimum distribution rules that apply to a beneficiary. Inherited IRA Contracts are not currently available under this Contract. However, that may change in the future.
- Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRA. Employers may establish Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRAs under Code Section 408(k) to provide IRA contributions on behalf of their employees. In addition to all of the general rules governing IRAs, such plans are subject to additional requirements and different contribution limits.

Qualified Plans: Pension and Profit-Sharing Plans. A qualified plan is a retirement or pension plan that meets the requirements for tax qualification under the Code. Sections 401(a) and 401(k) of the Code permit employers, including self-employed individuals, to establish various types of retirement plans for employees. These retirement plans may permit the purchase of the Contracts to provide benefits under the plan. Contributions to the plan for the benefit of employees are not included in the gross income of the employee until distributed from the plan. The tax consequences to participants may vary, depending upon the particular plan design. However, the Code places limitations and restrictions on all plans, including on such items as: amount of allowable contributions; form, manner and timing of distributions; transferability of benefits; vesting and nonforfeitability of interests; nondiscrimination in eligibility and participation; and the tax treatment of distributions and withdrawals. Participant loans are not allowed under the Contracts purchased in connection with these plans.

If the Contract is an investment for assets of a qualified plan under Section 401 of the Code, the plan is both the Owner and the Beneficiary. The authorized signatory or plan trustee for the plan must make representations to us that the plan is qualified under the Code on the Issue Date and is intended to continue to be qualified for the entire Accumulation Phase of the Contract, or as long as the qualified plan owns the Contract. The qualified plan may designate a third party administrator to act on its behalf. All tax reporting is the responsibility of the plan. In the event the qualified plan instructs us to roll the plan assets into an IRA for the Annuitant under this Contract, we change the qualification type of the Contract to an IRA and make the Annuitant the Owner. The qualified plan is responsible for any reporting required for the rollover transactions.

Purchasers of Contracts for use with pension or profit-sharing plans should obtain competent tax advice as to the tax treatment and suitability of such an investment. We may choose not to allow pension or profit-sharing plans to purchase this Contract.

PURCHASING A QUALIFIED CONTRACT

The Contract is designed to be used under various types of qualified plans. Because of the minimum Purchase Payment requirements, these Contracts may not be appropriate for some periodic payment retirement plans. Taxation of participants in each Qualified Contract varies with the type of plan and terms and conditions of each specific plan. Owners, Annuitants and Beneficiaries are cautioned that benefits under a Qualified Contract may be subject to the terms and conditions of the plan regardless of the terms and conditions of the Contracts issued pursuant to the plan. Some retirement plans are subject to distribution and other requirements that are not incorporated into our administrative procedures. We are not bound by the terms and conditions of such plans to the extent such terms conflict with the terms of a Contract, unless we specifically consent to be bound. Owners, participants and Beneficiaries are responsible for determining that contributions, distributions and other transactions with respect to the Contracts comply with applicable law.

The tax rules regarding qualified plans are very complex and have differing applications, depending on individual facts and circumstances. Each purchaser should obtain competent tax advice before purchasing a Contract issued under a qualified plan.

On July 6, 1983, the Supreme Court decided in Arizona Governing Committee v. Norris that optional annuity benefits provided under an employer's deferred compensation plan could not, under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, vary between men and women. The Contracts sold by us in connection with qualified plans may utilize annuity tables that do not differentiate on the basis of sex.

Generally, Contracts issued pursuant to qualified plans are not transferable except upon withdrawal or annuitization. Various penalty and excise taxes may apply to contributions or distributions made in violation of applicable limitations. Furthermore, certain withdrawal penalties and restrictions may apply to withdrawals from Qualified Contracts.

Many withdrawals from Qualified Contracts can be rolled over to an IRA or another qualified retirement plan. If you receive a withdrawal from a Qualified Contract that could be rolled over and you do not elect to make a direct rollover of that amount to an IRA or qualified plan, by law 20% of the taxable amount must be withheld for taxes. In situations where this mandatory tax withholding does not apply, other tax amounts may be withheld unless you elect out of the withholding. You may request more detailed information about income tax withholding at the time of a withdrawal. For more information, see prospectus section 7, Taxes – Distributions – Qualified Contracts.

DISTRIBUTIONS – QUALIFIED CONTRACTS

Distributions from Qualified Contracts are subject to ordinary income tax. Special rules may apply to withdrawals from certain types of Qualified Contracts, including Roth IRAs. You should consult with your qualified plan sponsor and tax adviser to determine how these rules affect the distribution of your benefits.

Section 72(t) of the Code provides that any amount received under a Qualified Contract, which is included in income, may be subject to a federal penalty tax. The amount of the federal penalty tax is equal to 10% of the amount that is included in income. Some distributions will be exempt from the federal penalty tax. There is an exception to this 10% federal penalty tax for:

- 1) distributions made on or after the date you (or the Annuitant as applicable) reach age 59½;
- 2) distributions following your death or disability (or the Annuitant as applicable) (for this purpose disability is as defined in Section 72(m)(7) of the Code);
- 3) after separation from service, paid in a series of substantially equal payments made annually (or more frequently) under a lifetime annuity;
- 4) distributions made to you to the extent such distributions do not exceed the amount allowed as a deduction under Code Section 213 for amounts paid during the tax year for medical care;
- 5) distributions made on account of an IRS levy upon the Qualified Contract;
- 6) distributions from an IRA for the purchase of medical insurance (as described in Section 213(d)(1)(D) of the Code) for you and your spouse and dependents if you have received unemployment compensation for at least 12 weeks (this exception will no longer apply after you have been re-employed for at least 60 days);
- 7) distributions from an IRA made to you, to the extent such distributions do not exceed your qualified higher education expenses (as defined in Section 72(t)(7) of the Code) for the tax year;
- 8) distributions from an IRA which are qualified first-time homebuyer distributions (as defined in Section 72(t)(8) of the Code);
- 9) distributions made to an alternate Payee pursuant to a qualified domestic relations order (does not apply to an IRA); and
- 10) a reservist called to active duty after September 11, 2001, for a period in excess of 179 days (or for an indefinite period), distributions from IRAs or amounts attributable to elective deferrals under a 401(k) plan made during such active period.

The exception stated in (3) above applies to an IRA without the requirement that there be a separation from service. With respect to (3) above, if the series of substantially equal periodic payments is modified before the later of the Annuitant attaining age 59½ or the close of the five year period that began on the Annuity Date, then the tax for the year of the modification is increased by the 10% federal penalty tax, plus interest for the tax years in which the exception was used. A partial withdrawal taken after a series of substantially equal periodic payments has begun will result in the modification of the series of substantially equal payments and therefore will result in the imposition of the 10% federal penalty tax and interest for the period as described above. You should obtain competent tax advice before you take any partial withdrawals from your Contract. Adding Purchase Payments to a Contract that is making substantially equal periodic payments will also result in a modification of the payments.

Distributions from a Qualified Contract must commence no later than the required beginning date. For Roth IRAs, no distributions are required during the Owner's lifetime. For IRAs other than Roth IRAs, the required beginning date is April 1 of the calendar year following the year in which you attain age 70½. Under a qualified plan, the required beginning date is generally April 1 of the calendar year following the later of the calendar year in which you reach age 70½ or retire. Generally, required minimum distributions must be made over a period not exceeding the life or life expectancy of the individual or the joint lives or life expectancies of the individual and his or her designated Beneficiary. If the required minimum distributions are not made, a 50% federal penalty tax is imposed as to the amount not distributed. It is unclear whether a partial withdrawal taken after an Annuity Date will have an adverse impact on the determination of required minimum distributions. If you are attempting to satisfy these rules through partial withdrawals, the present value of future benefits provided under the Contract may need to be included in calculating the amount required to be distributed. If you are receiving Annuity Payments or are age 70½ or older, you should consult with a tax adviser before taking a partial withdrawal.

DISTRIBUTIONS – NON-QUALIFIED CONTRACTS

You, as the Owner, generally will not be taxed on increases in the value of the Contract until an actual or deemed distribution occurs – either as a withdrawal or as Annuity Payments.

Section 72 of the Code governs treatment of distributions. When a withdrawal from a Non-Qualified Contract occurs, the amount received will generally be treated as ordinary income subject to tax up to an amount equal to the excess (if any) of the Contract Value immediately before the distribution over your investment in the Contract (generally, the Purchase Payments or other consideration paid for the Contract, reduced by any amount previously distributed from the Contract that was not subject to tax) at that time. Lifetime Income Payments are treated as partial withdrawals. While the Benefit Base is greater than the Contract Value, if you begin receiving Lifetime Income Payments, it is possible that the IRS could assert that the amount you receive will be taxable as ordinary income up to an amount equal to the excess of the Benefit Base immediately before the withdrawal over your investment in the Contract at that time. In the case of a full withdrawal under a Non-Qualified Contract, the amount received generally will be taxable only to the extent it exceeds your investment in the Contract.

If you annuitize the Contract, different rules apply. Periodic installments (for example, Annuity Payments) scheduled to be received at regular intervals (for example, monthly) after you annuitize the Contract should be treated as annuity payments (and not withdrawals) for tax purposes. A portion of each Annuity Payment may be treated as a partial return of your Purchase Payment and will not be taxed. The remaining portion of the payment will be treated as ordinary income. How the Annuity Payment is divided between taxable and non-taxable portions depends upon the period over which we expect to make the payments. Once we have paid your total Purchase Payment(s), the entire Annuity Payment is taxable as ordinary income.

Section 72 of the Code further provides that any amount received under an annuity contract, which is included in income, may be subject to a federal penalty tax. The amount of the federal penalty tax is equal to 10% of the amount that is included in income. Some distributions will be exempt from the federal penalty tax. There is an exception to this 10% federal penalty tax for amounts:

- 1) paid on or after you reach age 59½;
- 2) paid after you die;
- 3) paid if you become totally disabled (as that term is defined in Section 72(m)(7) of the Code);
- 4) paid in a series of substantially equal payments made annually (or more frequently) under a lifetime annuity;
- 5) paid as annuity payments under an immediate annuity; or
- 6) that come from Purchase Payments made before August 14, 1982.

With respect to (4) above, if the series of substantially equal periodic payments is modified before the later of your attaining age 59½ or the close of the five year period that began on the Annuity Date, then the tax for the year of the modification is increased by the 10% federal penalty tax, plus interest, for the tax years in which the exception was used. A partial withdrawal taken after a series of substantially equal periodic payments has begun will result in the modification of the series of substantially equal payments and therefore will result in the imposition of the 10% federal penalty tax and interest for the period as described above. Adding Purchase Payments to a Contract that is making substantially equal periodic payments will also result in a modification of the payments.

REQUIRED DISTRIBUTIONS

Section 72(s) of the Code requires that, to be treated as an annuity contract for federal income tax purposes, a Non-Qualified Contract must contain certain provisions regarding distributions when an Owner dies. Specifically, Section 72(s) requires that: (a) if an Owner dies on or after you annuitize the Contract, but before distribution of the entire Contract's interest, the entire Contract's interest must be distributed at least as rapidly as under the distribution method being used as of the Owner's date of death; and (b) if any Owner dies before you annuitize the Contract, the Contract's entire interest must be distributed within five years after the Owner's date of death. These requirements are satisfied as to any part of an Owner's interest that is payable to, or for the benefit of, a designated Beneficiary and distributed over the designated Beneficiary's life, or over a period not extending beyond that Beneficiary's life expectancy, provided that distributions begin within one year of the Owner's death. The designated Beneficiary refers to an individual designated by the Owner as a Beneficiary and to whom ownership of the Contract passes by reason of death. However, if the designated Beneficiary is the deceased Owner's surviving spouse, the surviving spouse can continue the Contract as the new Owner.

Non-Qualified Contracts contain provisions that are intended to comply with these Code requirements.

Other rules may apply to Qualified Contracts.

WITHHOLDING

Annuity distribution recipients are generally subject to federal income tax withholding. Recipients can, however, generally choose not to have this tax withheld unless withholding is required in their state.

“Eligible rollover distributions” from qualified plans are subject to a mandatory 20% federal income tax withholding. An eligible rollover distribution is any distribution to an employee (or employee’s spouse or former spouse as Beneficiary or alternate Payee) from such a plan, except required minimum distributions required by the Code, a series of substantially equal periodic payments made for life or ten years or more, or hardship distributions. The 20% withholding does not apply, however, to nontaxable distributions or if the employee chooses a “direct rollover” from the Contract plan to a qualified plan, IRA, TSA or 403(b) plan, or to a governmental Section 457 plan that agrees to separately account for rollover contributions.

DIVERSIFICATION

Code Section 817(h) imposes diversification standards on the assets underlying variable annuity contracts. The Code provides that a variable annuity contract cannot be treated as an annuity contract for any period during which its investments are not adequately diversified as required by the United States Treasury Department (Treasury Department). If the Contract no longer qualifies as an annuity contract, you would be subject to federal income tax each year with respect to Contract earnings accrued. The Code contains a safe harbor provision which provides that annuity contracts, such as this Contract, meet the diversification standards if, as of the end of each quarter, the Contract’s underlying assets meet the diversification standards for a regulated investment company and no more than 55% of the total assets consist of cash, cash items, U.S. government securities and securities of other regulated investment companies.

Treasury regulations (Treasury Reg. 1.817-5) amplify the Code’s diversification standards for variable contracts and provide an alternative to this safe harbor provision. We intend that all Contract Investment Options be managed by the investment advisers so that they comply with these diversification standards.

OWNER CONTROL

The Treasury Department has indicated that the diversification regulations do not provide guidance regarding the circumstances in which an Owner’s control of the Separate Account’s investments may cause the Owner to be treated as the owner of the Separate Account’s assets, which would cause the Contract to lose its favorable tax treatment. In certain circumstances, variable annuity contract owners have been considered for federal income tax purposes to be the owners of the separate account’s assets, due to their ability to exercise investment control over those assets. In this case, the contract owners have been currently taxed on income and gains attributable to the variable account assets. There is little guidance in this area and some of our Contracts’ features, such as the flexibility of an Owner to allocate Purchase Payments and transfer amounts among the Investment Options have not been explicitly addressed in published rulings. While we believe that the Contracts do not give Owners investment control over Separate Account assets, we reserve the right to modify the Contracts as necessary to prevent an Owner from being treated as the owner of the Separate Account assets.

CONTRACTS OWNED BY NON-INDIVIDUALS

When a Non-Qualified Contract is owned by a non-individual (other than a trust holding the Contract as an agent for an individual), the Contract is not generally treated as an annuity for tax purposes. This means that the Contract may not receive the benefits of tax deferral and Contract earnings may be taxed as ordinary income every year.

ANNUITY PURCHASES BY NONRESIDENT ALIENS AND FOREIGN CORPORATIONS

The preceding discussion provides general information regarding federal income tax consequences to Owners that are U.S. citizens or residents. Owners that are not U.S. citizens or residents are generally subject to 30% federal withholding tax on distributions, unless a lower treaty rate applies. In addition, Owners may be subject to state and/or municipal taxes and taxes that may be imposed by the Owners’ country of citizenship or residence. Prospective purchasers are advised to consult with a qualified tax adviser regarding U.S. state, and foreign taxation with respect to an annuity contract purchase.

INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING

Any part of a distribution that is included in the Owner's gross income is subject to federal income tax withholding. Generally, we withhold amounts from periodic payments at the same rate as wages, and we withhold 10% from non-periodic payments. However, in most cases, you may elect not to have taxes withheld or to have withholding done at a different rate.

Certain distributions from retirement plans qualified under Code Section 401, that are not directly rolled over to another eligible retirement plan or IRA, are subject to a mandatory 20% federal income tax withholding. The 20% withholding requirement generally does not apply to:

- a series of substantially equal payments made at least annually for the life or life expectancy of the participant or joint and last survivor expectancy of the participant and a designated Beneficiary, or for a specified period of ten years or more; or
- required minimum distributions; or
- any part of a distribution not included in gross income (for example, returns of after-tax contributions); or
- hardship withdrawals.

Participants should consult a tax adviser regarding withholding requirements.

MULTIPLE CONTRACTS

Code Section 72(e)(12) provides that multiple Non-Qualified deferred annuity contracts issued within the same calendar year to the same owner by one company or its affiliates are treated as one annuity contract for purposes of determining a distribution's tax consequences. This treatment may result in adverse tax consequences, including more rapid taxation of distribution from combined contracts. For purposes of this rule, contracts received in a Section 1035 exchange are considered issued in the year of the exchange. You should consult a tax adviser before purchasing more than one Non-Qualified Contract in any calendar year period.

PARTIAL 1035 EXCHANGES

Code Section 1035 provides that an annuity contract may be exchanged in a tax-free transaction for another annuity contract. Historically, it was presumed that only the exchange of an entire contract (as opposed to a partial exchange) would be accorded tax-free status. IRS guidance however, confirmed that the direct transfer of a part of an annuity contract into another annuity contract can qualify as a non-taxable exchange. IRS guidance provides that this direct transfer can go into an existing annuity contract as well as a new annuity contract. If you perform a partial 1035 exchange, please be aware that no distributions or withdrawals can occur from the old or new annuity contract within 180 days of the partial exchange, unless you qualify for an exception to this rule. IRS guidance also provides that certain partial exchanges may not qualify as tax-free exchanges. Therefore, Owners should consult their own tax advisers before partial exchanging an annuity contract.

ASSIGNMENTS, PLEDGES AND GRATUITOUS TRANSFERS

Any assignment or pledge (or agreement to assign or pledge) the Contract Value is treated for federal income tax purposes as a full withdrawal. Qualified Contracts generally cannot be assigned or pledged. The Contract's tax basis is increased by the amount includible as income with respect to such amount or portion, though it is not affected by any other aspect of the assignment or pledge (including its release). If an Owner transfers a Contract without adequate consideration to a person other than their spouse (or to a former spouse incidental to divorce), the Owner is taxed on the difference between his or her Contract Value and the Contract's tax basis at the time of transfer and for each subsequent year until the assignment is released. In such case, the transferee's investment in the Contract is increased to reflect the increase in the transferor's income.

The transfer or assignment of Contract ownership, the designation of an Annuitant, the selection of certain Annuity Dates, or a Contract exchange may result in other tax consequences that are not discussed here. An Owner should consult a tax adviser before requesting a transfer, assignment, or exchange.

DEATH BENEFITS

Any death benefit is taxable to the recipient as ordinary income. The rules governing the taxation of payments from an annuity contract generally apply to the payment of death benefits and depend on whether the death benefits are paid as a lump sum or as Annuity Payments. Estate taxes may also apply.

FEDERAL ESTATE TAXES

While no attempt is being made to discuss the Contract's federal estate tax implications, an Owner should keep in mind the annuity contract's value payable to a Beneficiary upon the Owner's death is included in the deceased Owner's gross estate. Depending on the annuity contract, the annuity's value included in the gross estate may be the value of the lump sum payment payable to the designated Beneficiary, or the actuarial value of the payments to be received by the Beneficiary. Consult an estate planning adviser for more information.

GENERATION-SKIPPING TRANSFER TAX

The Code may impose a "generation-skipping transfer tax" when all or part of an annuity contract is transferred to, or a death benefit is paid to, an individual two or more generations younger than the Owner. Regulations may require us to deduct this tax from your Contract, or from any applicable payment, and pay it directly to the IRS.

FOREIGN TAX CREDITS

We may benefit from any foreign tax credits attributable to taxes paid by certain funds to foreign jurisdictions to the extent permitted under the federal tax law.

POSSIBLE TAX LAW CHANGES

Although the likelihood of legislative or regulatory changes is uncertain, there is always the possibility that the Contract's tax treatment could change. Consult a tax adviser with respect to legislative or regulatory developments and their effect on the Contract.

We have the right to modify the Contract in response to legislative or regulatory changes that could otherwise diminish the favorable tax treatment that annuity owners currently receive. We make no guarantee regarding the tax status of any contract and do not intend the above discussion as tax advice.

ANNUITY PAYMENTS

We base Annuity Payments on your Contract Value. We guarantee the dollar amount of Annuity Payments (equal installments) and this amount does not change except as provided under Annuity Option 3. The Contract Value you apply to Annuity Payments is placed in our general account and does not participate in the Investment Options' performance. Annuity Payments are based on an interest rate and mortality table specified in your Contract. These rates are guaranteed and we cannot use lower rates.

Annuity Payments end upon the earliest of the following.

- Under Annuity Options 1 and 3, the death of the last surviving Annuitant.
- Under Annuity Options 2 and 4, the death of the last surviving Annuitant and expiration of the guaranteed period.
- Under Annuity Option 5, the death of the Annuitant and payment of any lump sum refund.
- When the Contract ends.

ANNUITY PAYMENT OPTIONS

The Annuity Payment Options are briefly described in prospectus section 11 – The Annuity Phase, and we included additional information that you may find helpful here.

Option 1. Life Annuity. We make Annuity Payments during the life of the Annuitant, and the last payment is the one that is due before the Annuitant's death. If the Annuitant dies shortly after the Annuity Date, the Payee may receive less than your investment in the Contract.

Option 2. Life Annuity with Payments Over 5, 10, 15 or 20 Years Guaranteed. We make Annuity Payments during the life of the Annuitant. If the Annuitant dies before the end of the selected guaranteed period, we continue to make Annuity Payments to the Payee for the rest of the guaranteed period. If the Payee and Annuitant were the same person, we make payments to the Owner. If the Payee, Annuitant and Owner were the same person, we make payments to the Beneficiary(s). If the Annuitant dies after the selected guaranteed period, the last payment is the one that is due before the Annuitant's death.

Option 3. Joint and Last Survivor Annuity. We make Annuity Payments during the lifetimes of the Annuitant and the joint Annuitant. Upon the death of one Annuitant, Annuity Payments to the Payee continue during the lifetime of the surviving joint Annuitant, at a level of 100%, 75% or 50% of the previous amount, as selected by the Owner. Annuity Payments stop with the last payment that is due before the last surviving joint Annuitant's death. If both Annuitants die shortly after the Annuity Date, the Payee may receive less than your investment in the Contract.

Option 4. Joint and Last Survivor Annuity with Payments Over 5, 10, 15 or 20 Years Guaranteed. We make Annuity Payments during the lifetimes of the Annuitant and the joint Annuitant. Upon the death of one Annuitant, Annuity Payments continue to the Payee during the lifetime of the surviving joint Annuitant at 100% of the amount that was paid when both Annuitants were alive. However, if both joint Annuitants die before the end of the selected guaranteed period, we continue to make Annuity Payments to the Payee for the rest of the guaranteed period. If the Payee and Annuitant were the same person, we make payments to the Owner. If the Payee, Annuitant and Owner were the same person, we make payments to the Beneficiary(s). If the Annuitant dies after the selected guaranteed period, the last payment is the one that is due before the Annuitant's death.

Option 5. Refund Life Annuity. We make Annuity Payments during the lifetime of the Annuitant, and the last payment is the one that is due before the Annuitant's death. After the Annuitant's death, the Payee may receive a lump sum refund. The refund is equal to the amount applied to this Annuity Option minus the total of all Annuity Payments made under this option.

APPENDIX – DEATH OF THE OWNER AND/OR ANNUITANT

The following tables are intended to help you better understand what happens upon the death of any Owner and/or Annuitant under the different portions of the Contract assuming you do not assign or change ownership of this Contract. If you assign or change ownership of this Contract, the Accumulation and Annuity Phases end as described here, but the Income Phase ends as described in prospectus section 10, Lifetime Income Payments.

UPON THE DEATH OF A SOLE OWNER

Action if the Contract is in the Accumulation or Income Phases

- We pay a death benefit to the Beneficiary.⁽¹⁾ For a description of the payout options, see the "Death Benefit Payment Options" discussion in the prospectus, section 12, Death Benefit.
- If you are receiving Lifetime Income Payments, payments end.

Action if the Contract is in the Annuity Phase

- The Beneficiary becomes the Owner.
- If the deceased was not an Annuitant, Annuity Payments to the Payee continue. No death benefit is payable.
- If the deceased was the only surviving Annuitant, Annuity Payments end or continue as follows.
 - Annuity Option 1 or 3, payments end.
 - Annuity Option 2 or 4, payments end when the guaranteed period expires.
 - Annuity Option 5, payments end and the Payee may receive a lump sum refund.
- If the deceased was an Annuitant and there is a surviving joint Annuitant, Annuity Payments to the Payee continue during the lifetime of the surviving joint Annuitant. No death benefit is payable.

(1) If the Beneficiary is the deceased's spouse, he or she may be able to continue the Contract instead of receiving a death benefit payout. If the deceased's spouse is the Covered Person and continues the Contract, we increase the Retirement Protection Account Value to equal the Quarterly Anniversary Value (and/or the Heritage Account Value to equal the Investment Base) if that amount is greater than the current Account Value, as of the end of the Business Day we receive in Good Order at our Service Center the death benefit payment election and due proof of death.

UPON THE DEATH OF A JOINT OWNER

Action if the Contract is in the Accumulation or Income Phases

- The surviving Joint Owner is the sole primary Beneficiary. If the Joint Owners were spouses there may also be contingent Beneficiaries. However, for tax reasons, we do not allow non-spousal Joint Owners to appoint contingent Beneficiaries.
- We pay a death benefit to the surviving Joint Owner.⁽¹⁾ For a description of the payout options available, see the "Death Benefit Payment Options" discussion in the prospectus, section 12, Death Benefit.
- If you are receiving Lifetime Income Payments:
 - and the Joint Owners were not spouses, payments end even if the Covered Person is still alive; or
 - and the Joint Owners were spouses, payments end unless the surviving spouse is also the Covered Person and he or she continues the Contract.⁽²⁾

Action if the Contract is in the Annuity Phase

- The surviving Joint Owner becomes the sole Owner.
- If the deceased was not an Annuitant, Annuity Payments to the Payee continue. No death benefit is payable.
- If the deceased was the only surviving Annuitant, Annuity Payments end or continue as follows.
 - Annuity Option 1 or 3, payments end.
 - Annuity Option 2 or 4, payments end when the guaranteed period expires.
 - Annuity Option 5, payments end and the Payee may receive a lump sum refund.
- If the deceased was an Annuitant and there is a surviving joint Annuitant, Annuity Payments to the Payee continue during the lifetime of the surviving joint Annuitant. No death benefit is payable.

(1) If the surviving Joint Owner is the deceased's spouse, he or she may be able to continue the Contract instead of receiving a death benefit payout. If the deceased's spouse is the Covered Person and continues the Contract, we increase the Income Advantage Account Value to equal the Income Advantage Death Benefit if that amount is greater than the Income Advantage Account Value, as of the end of the Business Day we receive in Good Order at our Service Center the death benefit payment election and due proof of death. If both Joint Owners die before we pay the death benefit, we pay any contingent Beneficiaries, or the estate of the Joint Owner who died last if there are no contingent Beneficiaries.

(2) If the surviving spouse continues the Contract after the Benefit Election Date, then Income Advantage Payments continue at the prior amount.

UPON THE DEATH OF THE SOLE ANNUITANT

Action if the Contract is in the Accumulation or Income Phases

- If the Contract is owned by a non-individual (for example, a qualified plan or a trust), we treat the death of the Annuitant as the death of an Owner; we pay the Beneficiary⁽¹⁾ a death benefit, and a new Annuitant cannot be named.
- If the deceased Annuitant was not an Owner, and the Contract is individually owned, we do not pay a death benefit. The Owner can name a new Annuitant subject to our approval.
- If the deceased Annuitant was a sole Owner, we pay the Beneficiary⁽¹⁾ a death benefit.
- If the deceased Annuitant was a Joint Owner and there is a surviving Joint Owner, the surviving Joint Owner is the sole primary Beneficiary. If the Joint Owners were spouses, there may also be contingent Beneficiaries. However, for tax reasons, we do not allow non-spousal Joint Owners to appoint contingent Beneficiaries. We pay a death benefit to the surviving Joint Owner.⁽²⁾
- If you are receiving Lifetime Income Payments:
 - and the Contract is solely owned or owned by a non-individual, payments end;
 - and the Contract is jointly owned by non-spouses, payments end, even if the Covered Person is still alive;
 - and the Contract is jointly owned by spouses, payments end unless the surviving spouse is also the Covered Person and he or she continues the Contract.⁽³⁾
- For a description of the payout options, see the “Death Benefit Payment Options” discussion in the prospectus, section 12, Death Benefit.

(1) If the Beneficiary is the deceased’s spouse, he or she may be able to continue the Contract instead of receiving a death benefit payout. If the deceased’s spouse is the Covered Person and continues the Contract, we increase the Retirement Protection Account Value to equal the Quarterly Anniversary Value (and/or the Heritage Account Value to equal the Heritage Base) if that amount is greater than the current Account Value, as of the end of the Business Day we receive a Valid Claim. If the deceased was the Annuitant and the Owner was a non-individual, the surviving spouse becomes the new Owner upon Contract continuation.

(2) If the surviving Joint Owner is the deceased’s spouse, he or she may be able to continue the Contract instead of receiving a death benefit payout. If the deceased’s spouse is the Covered Person and continues the Contract, we increase the Retirement Protection Account Value to equal the Quarterly Anniversary Value (and/or the Heritage Account Value to equal the Heritage Base) if that amount is greater than the current Account Value, as of the end of the Business Day we receive a Valid Claim. If both Joint Owners die before we pay the death benefit, we pay any contingent Beneficiaries, or the estate of the Joint Owner who died last if there are no contingent Beneficiaries.

(3) If the surviving spouse continues the Contract after the Benefit Election Date, then Lifetime Income Payments continue at the prior amount.

Action if the Contract is in the Annuity Phase

- If the deceased was the only surviving Annuitant, Annuity Payments end or continue as follows.
 - Annuity Option 1 or 3, payments end.
 - Annuity Option 2 or 4, payments end when the guaranteed period expires.
 - Annuity Option 5, payments end and the Payee may receive a lump sum refund.
- If the deceased was a sole Owner, the Beneficiary becomes the Owner if the Contract continues.
- If the deceased was a Joint Owner, the surviving Joint Owner becomes the sole Owner if the Contract continues.

UPON THE DEATH OF THE ANNUITANT DURING THE ANNUITY PHASE AND THERE IS A SURVIVING JOINT ANNUITANT

- Only Annuity Options 3 and 4 allow joint Annuitants. Under Annuity Options 3 and 4, Annuity Payments to the Payee continue during the lifetime of the surviving joint Annuitant and, for Annuity Option 4, during any remaining guaranteed period of time.
- No death benefit is payable.
- If the deceased was a sole Owner, the Beneficiary becomes the Owner.
- If the deceased was a Joint Owner, the surviving Joint Owner becomes the sole Owner.
